CHAPTER 4

SEXUAL HARASSMENT AND ABUSIVE CONDUCT PREVENTION

1. INTRODUCTION.

a. Sexual harassment in the workplace is a form of sex discrimination that violates both Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the California's Fair Employment and Housing Act.

Sexual harassment based on sex (including pregnancy, childbirth, breastfeeding, or related medical conditions), gender, gender identity, gender expression, or sexual orientation. Individuals of any gender can be the target of sexual harassment. It includes unwelcome sex-based conduct, such as unwelcomed or unsolicited sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, conversations regarding sexual activities, or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature. Sexual harassment does not have to be of a sexual nature and sexual harassment does not need to be motivated by sexual desire. Additionally, sexual harassment may include situations that begin as a consensual dating or sexual relationship, but later becomes a relationship that is not welcomed by one of the people involved.

b. This policy emphasizes the Department's commitment to a work environment free from discrimination and harassment, and encourages a culture of respect and trust. Sexual harassment or abusive conduct undermines the integrity of the employment relationship. The Department will act to stop the conduct, prevent its recurrence, and discipline and/or take other appropriate action against those individuals determined to be in violation of this policy.

2. POLICY.

a. The Department prohibits and does not tolerate sexual harassment by any departmental employee against another employee, applicant, paid or unpaid intern, volunteer, or nonemployee (e.g., an independent contractor or vendor) or vice versa.

b. This policy extends to conduct with a connection to an employee's work even when the conduct takes place away from CHP's premises, such as a business trip, business-related social function, or through social media.

c. All CHP employees are responsible for ensuring their conduct adheres to the Department's Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Program policies reflecting a workplace in which all individuals are free from discrimination, harassment, including sexual harassment and abusive conduct, or retaliation.

d. California Highway Patrol employees, both supervisory and non-supervisory, may be personally liable for damages, as well as the Department, in legal actions filed for harassment or aiding and abetting harassment.

e. When the Department receives an allegation of sexual harassment, it will conduct a fair, timely, and thorough investigation that provides all parties appropriate due process and reaches reasonable conclusions based on the evidence collected.

f. No employee shall be subject to retaliation as a result of making a complaint or participating in an investigation.

g. Immediate and appropriate disciplinary action(s) will be taken against those individuals determined to be in violation of this policy, up to and including, dismissal.

h. All CHP employees shall take the required online sexual harassment and abusive conduct prevention training developed by the California Civil Rights Department (CRD).

i. Commands shall display the most recent versions of the required equal employment opportunity workplace posters in their designated posting areas. The links are available on the Equal Opportunity & Access Section's (EOAS) SharePoint page, REQUIRED EEO POSTINGS.

j. Employees shall acknowledge they have reviewed and understand Highway Patrol Manual (HPM) 10.12, Chapter 1, Policy and Program Responsibilities; Chapter 4, Sexual Harassment and Abusive Conduct Prevention; Chapter 5, Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation Complaint Process; and Chapter 8, Disability Services Program, upon initial hire and annually thereafter utilizing the CHP 237A, Annual Equal Employment Opportunity Policy Review.

3. LEGAL AUTHORITY.

a. Sections 12900-12999 of the California Government Code (GC) are known and referred to as the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA).

b. The FEHA prohibits discrimination, harassment, and retaliation on the basis of statutorily protected characteristics against employees, unpaid interns, job applicants, and independent contractors (Section 12940 GC). Title 2, Section 11023 of the California Code of Regulations (CCR), states that employers have an affirmative duty to take reasonable steps to prevent and promptly correct discriminatory and harassing conduct; this is in accordance with Section 12940(k) GC.

c. Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 is a federal law that in part prohibits sexual harassment which is defined as unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical harassment of a sexual nature.

4. SEXUAL HARASSMENT.

a. Sexual harassment may include all the actions described as harassment in Chapter 3, Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation, of this manual, as well as other unwelcome sex-based conduct. This includes, but is not limited to the following:

- (1) Unwelcome or unsolicited sexual advances.
- (2) Offering employment benefits in exchange for sexual favors, leering, or gestures.
- (3) Displaying sexually suggestive objects, pictures, cartoons, or posters.
- (4) Derogatory comments, epithets, slurs, or jokes.
- (5) Graphic comments, sexually degrading words, or suggestive or obscene messages or invitations.
- (6) Conversations regarding sexual activities.
- (7) Other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature, including impeding or blocking movements.

NOTE: This may include situations that began as reciprocal relationships, but later cease to be reciprocal.

b. Individuals of any gender may be the subject of sexual harassment. Sexual harassment may involve harassment by a person of the same gender, regardless of either person's sexual orientation or gender identity. Unlawful sexual harassment does not have to be motivated by sexual desire.

5. TYPES OF SEXUAL HARASSMENT.

a. Quid Pro Quo Sexual Harassment.

(1) Quid pro Quo means “this for that.” This occurs when an individual demands sexual favors in exchange for an employment benefit or demands sexual favors by threatening negative employment actions.

(2) Submission to sexual conduct (or other harassing conduct) is made explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual’s employment. A term or condition of employment is defined as the entirety of the environment in which an employee works. The term encompasses all aspects of an employee’s relationship with their employer and co-workers, including compensation, fringe benefits, physical environment, work-related rules, work assignments, training and education, and opportunities to serve on committees and decision-making bodies.

b. Actual or threatened retaliation for rejecting sexual advances or complaining about the harassment is also unlawful. (Refer to Chapter 3 of this manual.)

c. Hostile Work Environment Sexual Harassment.

(1) A hostile work environment is defined as unwelcome conduct on the basis of sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, or sexual orientation by a person in the workplace that unreasonably interferes with an employee’s work performance and/or creates an intimidating, hostile, abusive, or otherwise offensive work environment.

(a) Examples of sexual harassment creating a hostile work environment include, but are not limited to: behavior which could include sexual advances, flirtation, teasing, sexually suggestive or obscene letters, invitations, notes, emails, voicemails, or gifts; comments, slurs, jokes, remarks, or epithets; leering, obscene or vulgar gestures; displaying disturbing or sexually suggestive or derogatory objects, pictures, graphics, cartoons, videos, images, or posters; impeding or blocking movement, touching, or assaulting others; reprisals or threats after a negative response to sexual advances; and conduct or comments consistently targeted at one gender, even if the content is not sexual.

(2) The harassment must be severe or pervasive to be unlawful for a violation of policy. That means that comments or conduct alters the conditions of employment and creates an abusive work environment. A single act of harassment may be sufficiently severe to be unlawful or a violation of policy. However, petty slights, annoyances, and isolated incidents (unless severe) will not constitute a hostile work environment. It depends on the totality of the circumstances.

(3) Unwelcome means the person did not solicit or invite the unwanted or offensive conduct. It is also considered conduct that creates a hostile work environment. Conduct could initially be welcomed (e.g., consensual dating or sexual relationship) but turn to unwelcomed conduct when one of the persons involved has indicated to the other that the conduct is no longer welcome.

(4) The harassment may be considered hostile even if the offensive conduct was not aimed directly at an affected individual.

6. REPORTING.

a. If the employee is comfortable, they are encouraged to speak directly to the person who is perpetrating the harassing or abusive conduct, explain the behavior is unacceptable, and ask them to stop.

b. Employees are encouraged to first seek informal assistance from their supervisor, another manager, or an EEO counselor. Through employees communicating with a supervisor, another manager, or an EEO counselor, the Department can take appropriate action to resolve an issue. (Refer to Chapter 5 of this manual.)

c. Reporting incidents of sexual harassment will not result in reprisal against employees alleging they are being harassed. Persons determined to have committed acts of reprisal may be subject to adverse action. (Refer to Chapter 3 of this manual.)

d. Individuals may also file concurrent complaints of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation with a state or federal compliance agency. (Refer to Chapter 5 of this manual.)

7. RESPONSIBILITIES.

a. Managers and Supervisors.

(1) Act professionally, courteously, and assume responsibility for assuring and maintaining a work environment that is free from discrimination and harassment (including sexual harassment), and an environment free from retaliation for participating in any protected activity.

(2) Lead by example with respectful actions, behaviors, and attitudes.

Department's discrimination, harassment, and retaliation prevention policy; and CRD's required EEO postings.
