FOREWORD

The Information System Documentation Manual provides policy and standards concerning information system development and documentation. Included in this manual are criteria to use in the evaluation of proposals for information system development. These criteria will help the commander determine if local resources should be used for the development effort. Also included are standards for preparing proper documentation for information systems. Following these standards will help ensure the command will be able to maintain the system when the developer is not available.

Questions concerning the use of this manual should be directed to the Information Technology Section at (916) 843-4100.
